Professional Opportunities

Prior to graduation, you are faced with having to make critical decisions about your career path. Do you go to a large firm and get placed in a very defined role? Would working for a small firm and becoming hands-on in the detailed accounting or small-business tax returns be a better fit? Or would working for a mid-sized firm receiving exposure to accounting, tax, audit, and special projects provide a better foundation for advancement?

BIK & CO, LLP is that mid-sized firm. We have a diverse client base comprised of large and small clients in private industry, non-profit organizations, and government agencies or regulated entities, such as banks. Our professionals perform specialty audits, such as employee benefit plans and internal controls; prepare tax returns; assist with client accounting; and consult with clients regarding personal or business-related accounting and financial matters. We are large enough to service influential organizations, yet small enough for your contributions to be acknowledged by our Partner group.

Our firm has specialty service areas. We have continued to grow by identifying and targeting new clients and through business acquisitions. We are not sitting still and waiting for clients to knock on our door. We have a business development plan and an acquisition strategy, and we are always implementing new niche service areas.
